

Moustafa A. Mourad
President, One Global Economy Corporation

Moustafa Mourad is the president of One Global Economy, the international arm of the One Economy Corporation, with a mission to provide low-income households with access to technology and connect them to services and economic opportunities.

Previously, he was the principal of Mourad, Warnke & Associates, an international community development consulting firm with projects in Oman, South Africa and Honduras among others. Mr. Mourad was also the Director of Planning, Design, and Development at the Enterprise Foundation, the second largest national community development intermediary in the United States. He also created Foundation's "Asset-Building Taskforce", a multi-disciplinary team whose members' experiences range from community organizing to micro-enterprise development and housing construction.

Prior to his tenure at Enterprise, Mr. Mourad held positions as Senior Planner with the City of Boston, and City Planner for the City of Cambridge, Massachusetts. He also consulted for USAID, the Ford Foundation as well as the governments of Egypt, Sri Lanka and the Sudan on a number of development issues ranging from affordable housing policies to economic development and employment.
